Was Over Saipan

CPL. AARON LEE ROBBINS
Army Air Corps

Cpl. Aaron Lee Robbins saw the invasion of Saipan in the Pacific from a gun turret of a B-24 Liberator bomber.

Cpl. Robbins has just returned from 11 1-2 months overseas with the American 5th Air Force.

Cpl. Robbins was born in San Saba in 1918 and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Robbins of Cameron.

Just returned from overseas he served from bases in New Guiena and had the great experience of the invasion of Saipan. The Herald has not had opportunity to talk with Cpl. Robbins.

Two brothers are in the armed forces. They are Pvt. Alton Robbins somewhere in France and Cpl. Elmer Robbins stationed in Laredo.

YOEMEN YIELD FINAL GAME TO BELTON TIGERS

The Yoemen lost their final game of the season to the Belton Tigers here Friday night 12 to 7 after a brilliant start in which a dream book pass scored a touchdown and that good old Terry toe converted for the extra point.

The game was only minutes old when the play that brought the score was called. The ball was snapped to Kennedy who is turn relayed it to Hauk far out and back of the Cameron right end. Hauk then tossed the ball some 25 yards down field to Matula who was streaking to the Tiger goal. It was one of the most spectucular plays ever seen on Yoemen field. Bob Terry gathered in the extra point when his toe struck beam and the ball sailed through the upright.

That was all. The Yoemen seemed to collapse thereafter although throughout there was much stout line play but the back field never could get going.

Belton's ground game was superb. A little guy named Roberts burned all the grass off the field. After a long drive down the field Roberts went over from the 2 for the score but Fielding failed the extra point and the Tigers trailed 7 to 6.

Otto Gerrick, 200 pound tackle who sometime calls signals, sustained a broken arm. This greatly lessened the Yoemen chances.

In the third quarter after a sustained drive the Tigers scored the winning touchdown. Again it was Roberts. The extra point failed again as Fielding missed his target for a pass over the goal.

E. C. COLE LEADING CITY 6TH WAR LOAN

E. C. Cole will lead the 6th War Loan drive in the City of Cameron, a place in which he has served with distinction and success during the past four loans.

Mr. Cole has named Captains for the city's districts. The quota for the city was expected to be set Wednesday.

The 6th War Loan officially begins on Monday, November 20th. The city, said Mr. Cole will be divided into four zones as heretofore. Zone captains are Rudolph Richter, J. A. Young, Albert Collins and A. W. McCullin. Cameron women will be asked to aid in this drive. Their share in previous war loans have been large. "In order to reach our goal it will be necessay that every person in Cameron be contacted and that every person in Cameron do their very best in buying bonds. Buy all you can and then go buy one more $18.75 bond."

"If you are ready to buy, make your purchases before the committee reaches you. Don't wait. Be ready to tell the committee that you have already bought and they can list your purchases on their zone sheet.

"Because we have had good news from the fighting fronts is no reason why we should let down. We must keep up the fight here on the home front. Our boys are giving, arms legs and life. Will you not lend your money. Your extra bond might be the amount that would mean saving the life of your own or your neighbors' son.

"If you are willing to do your share buy bonds early and then volunteer your services to one of the four Captains to help solicit those who are not as willing as you."

The Cameron quota was fixed early Wednesday at $60,000 of series E bonds.

CITY AIR PORT BONDS ARE SOLD AT PREMIUM

Cameron's Air Port Bonds Tuesday sold at a premium plus the lowest rate of interest of an security ever issued by this city and perhaps lower than any ever sold in this area.

The Dallas Union Trust Company bought the issue of $25,000. The city will issue the bonds and pay them off in 12 years. The first series from 1946 to 1952 bear one and three quarter per cent interest, and the series from 1953 to 1957 will bear 2 per cent interest.

The Dallas Union Trust Company gave a premium of $51 and in addition will pay for the printing of the bonds and attorneys fees.

Mayor Chas. C. Smith was elated over the sale. He said the low rate of interest would save the city a great deal. On the last three bonds the city has an option to pay off in advance of maturity dates. Maturity dates were fixed to conform to other bonded pay dates and collection of taxes.

Rodessa Woods of Cameron is in the Newton Memorial Hospital for treatment and is reported doing nicely.

Lt. Howard Terry Commands PT Boat Plying Philippine Waters to Aid Guerrillas; Leads Daring Attacks on Japs Pocketed Along Shore

The moon was not yet up and the darkness accentuated the flickering lights of Mindanao's northern-most shorelines as the PT boat approached on a special mission.

"Those lights might cause us some trouble when we try to find him," remarked the skipper, Lt. (jg) Howard Terry, Cameron, Texas.

We were looking for a signal light from shore. For the two preceding nights an American scout, hiding out in friendly guerrilla country, had sent his identification signal, but this night his vigil was to end.

Machine Gunner Joseph Stefanoni, Greenwich Village, New York City, sang out: "There it is," and the signalman gave an answering blink.

Soon a native boat paddled alongside. Willing hands pulled the scout aboard.

He was tall, lean and hungry looking and had the air of a man who depended upon alertness and lightfootedness.

The American scout, a Rhode Islander who must remain unidentified, produced a large packet of maps, spread them out under the chart house light, and beckoned to Terry and his executive officer, Pete Reardon, Portsmouth, Ohio.

"There is a concentration of about 150 Japs here," he said, pointing to a harbor at Masipit. "If we shot them up it would do much for the guerrillas who have been harassing the Jap garrison for weeks."

The PT soon was under way again, speeding southward. It gingerly nosed into Masipit harbor, taking constant soundings to avoid running aground.

It was 1 a. m. now and the moon was up and gleaming brightly. Suddenly a rifle cracked on shore.

"The first shot has been fired, boys," Terry shouted, "but not the last. Let's go!"

Every gun on the little PT blazed away at shoreline structures where the enemy troops were garrisoned. Tracers poured a crimson stream into the objectives. Then the mortars lobbed their high explosives throughout the area.

When the attack ceased only two buildings were left standing at Masipit.

Thus, did the PT bring the first direct aid and comfort to the guerrillas of northern Mindanao who for almost three years fought alone.

Lt. Terry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Terry of Cameron, a graduate and former Longhorn lineman at the University of Texas.

Recipe for a V-Mail Letter

Read the other day about a G.I. overseas who received an installment notice from the income tax collector. He wrote back: "Over here, even a letter from you is news from home."

A gag, of course—but with an overtone of truth about it. More than anything else, the men like getting letters from home. More than anything else, our V-Mail letters can help to keep up their morale.

What to write about? That's the easiest thing of all. For it's the little things they dream of and remember! The backyard baseball games . . . the fishing trips . . . the picnics with the chicken sandwiches and ice cold beer.

From where I sit, the least we can do is write those V-Mail letters often—let our men know that those little things they miss so much—from the ball games to the beer—are still here, waiting for them till they come back home.

87 times I've gone out—and come back.

When your score gets that high, they usually let you quit for a while.

Out here, you get to understand those things. There's no question of quitting—no matter how much you've done.

Back home, it's the same way about buying War Bonds. You feel good when you count up and realize what a high score you've got. You feel you deserve a rest, too.

But the war isn't over yet. And until it is, I'll make a bargain with you: You keep on buying, and I'll keep on fighting till the last Jap drops!

Bushdale Vote Not Counted; Arrived Too Late to Count

The Bushdale vote was not counted in the official returns from the election on November 7. The returns arrived too late and could not be lawfully certified.

If the vote had been tabulated two of the constitutional amendments would have been defeated.

The law provides that returns shall be made within 72 hours after the close of the polls.

That Smear Was Grape Jam, Not Human Blood

KANSAS CITY. — Patrolmen who arrived on the scene of an auto accident found Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Kerr walking around, wiping a dark red substance from their clothing. "You'd better lie down while I call an ambulance," advised a patrolman. "Oh," replied Mrs. Kerr, "we're not hurt. That's just grape jam.

Ghost Ship Rides Britain's Airways

Crewless Plane Flies Miles With Death Cargo.

LONDON, ENGLAND. — Laden with several tons of high explosive bombs, an American Flying Fortress flew 600 miles without a crew across the breadth of England and Eire, setting off alerts which startled millions on the ground, and then presumably found its grave in the Atlantic.

The flight of this ghost ship—piloted only by "George," the automatic control, after its crew had bailed out over robot conscious Britain, constituted one of the most amazing "operational" trips of the war.

The odyssey began over the "Wash"—midway up England's east coast. Aloft with its full bombload, the Fortress got into difficulties, and its 10-member crew bailed out in the vicinity of King's Lynn. Before taking to the chutes the crew sent out an SOS.

Immediately this dramatic order was sent out: "Intercept and destroy Flying Fortress, last seen heading from the Wash toward Liverpool."

Fighters took off immediately to carry out this unusual instruction.

Crewmen said they bailed out when one engine was ablaze. The automatic pilot had been set to take the ship up the North sea. But apparently by some mechanical freak the Fort leveled out and, under guidance of the automatic pilot, swung across country with fighters in pursuit over 600 miles of countryside.

Below, many thousands saw the plane, unaware that it was loaded with a cargo of death without a living soul aboard. Playing tag in the clouds with pursuing fighters, the Fortress touched off air raid sirens in Liverpool and a number of Midlands and Wales towns — sirens which had not been heard "operationally" for many months, in some cases for years. At Liverpool the ship perversely circled the city before heading out to sea.

Mom Dies as Son Tells of Soldier Brother's Death

PHILADELPHIA. — Quiet and unsmiling, the six married sons of Mrs. Anna May Clampfer, 65, arrived at their mother's home.

One brought the family physician and friend. Another carried a war department telegram saying their brother, Pvt. Robert Clampfer, had been killed in France.

"Sit down, Mom," said Walter Clampfer.

Mrs. Clampfer seated herself slowly, and Walter went on:

"We have bad news."

An inquisitive fear crossed her face.

"Bobby—" said Walter. The stare in his mother's eyes was unchanged. . . .

"Bobby has been killed."

The physician stepped to Mrs. Clampfer's side and bent over her.

"Mom is dead," he said.

Pink Elephant Walks In; Gift From Friend Wife

HOLLYWOOD, CALIF. — Eugene Joseff's friends were helping him celebrate his 26th birthday anniversary at a restaurant when in walked a pink elephant, 15 feet high.

Temporarily convinced he might not live to be 27, Joseff was about to take the pledge while diving through a window, but his friends restrained him, got him to read the tag around the neck of the real, live elephant, which had been sprayed pink.

It read: "Birthday greetings from your wife."

Grieving Father's Plea Makes Hospitals Richer

PORTLAND, ORE. — There were no flowers at Jimmie Lou's funeral —so two children's hospitals are $1,910.64 richer.

Jimmie Lou, 11, daughter of Jim Butler, a shipbuilder, died. Some of the boys thought a big spray would be nice, but—

"Don't buy flowers," said Jim. "Send the money to children's hospitals."

The boys passed the hat and $1,910.64 was sent to the hospitals.

MEAT CASES FILED HERE ARE DISMISSED

Leland Green, Jr., of the Green & Boedeker store has written the following communication to The Herald:

"A few days ago, your paper carried as a news item the information that we were under fire with the OPA. The litigation attorney out of the Houston office was here this week and told us that he had dismissed the case, but that we would be billed for the court costs which would approximate ten dollars. The trouble seems to have been that Cameron had no "Official" meat grader. The local slaughter houses have now been designated as official graders and everybody is happy. While we were technically in violation, we were not morally guilty of wrong-doing. Trying to carry on a business of any nature during wartime is a tedious operation. Our only request is that the public be fully acquainted with all of the facts before they pass judgment."

The Herald reoprted the filing of these cases without comment. Other cases were filed aginst other merchants and two processors and it was understood all had been dismissed.

SAVE BY INVESTING IN WAR BONDS

Sure! Many a new and enthusiastic user of Admiration Coffee faced the same situation in recent months. The brand of coffee she'd been using suddenly, almost overnight, began brewing up a bitter, acid cup. And in its wake inevitable family explosions occurred.

HAS YOUR BLEND "CHANGED"?

What happened is easily explained. Her old standby "changed." Cheap, inferior, bitter-tasting coffees were substituted where better coffees were used before. Why? Well, to "save" on ceiling prices. There's no scarcity of good coffees. It's just a plain case of adulteration.

THE WAR HAS CHANGED SOME COFFEES

But the war hasn't changed all coffees. Admiration is still today, as it was 25 years ago, a unique blend of choice, expensive coffees, roasted to the peak of flavor and freshness. Today, tomorrow, next month, and years from now it will be the same heart-warming, appetite-cheering blend. Thousands throughout the Southwest are as loyal to Admiration as they would be to an old friend. As indeed it is. Buy a pound today and give it a one-week trial. You'll understand with glowing satisfaction, right at the first sip, why this superior blend commands by far the greatest sale of any coffee in the Southwest.

Boy is Held in Jail For Smuggling Saw To Prisoners Here

Sheriff Sarah White reported late Wednesday that Howard Samples is being held awaiting charges because he smuggled a saw to the cell block in which Arthur Haynes, convicted juvenile was held and Horace Duncan who escaped from a state institution at Terrell.

Sheriff White had all back in jail in a short time and there was only a brief delivery.

Haynes who is under sentence escaped but voluntarily returned. Duncan who is being held on insanity charges was taken at his home in the country.

Samples, a teen age, was arrested some months ago after he had knocked over some mail boxes, but was released. Sheriff White said he smuggled the saw to the cell blocks from outside the jail.

Swap of Fish, Wallet Proves Happy Ending

OSWEGO, N. Y.—One day's fishing failure each had been reported by Richard C. Mitchell, who caught the legal limit but lost his wallet, and by William R. Wolfe, who caught the wallet but got no trout. State troopers produced a happy ending at a meeting where Mitchell swapped his catch for the $138 and gas coupons.

Tanker Outsmarts Japanese U-Boat

Engages in Shot for Shot Battle for 12 Hours.

WASHINGTON.—Exchanging shot for shot, the American tanker Vanhill "outmaneuvered and outfought" a Japanese submarine in a day-long battle in the Pacific, the War Shipping administration reported recently,

The tanker, Kaiser-built in the Swan Island shipyard at Portland, Ore., eluded five torpedoes and many shells from the deck guns of the Japanese raider, said the WSA report. The encounter was broken off when the arrival of a navy PBY plane forced the enemy craft to dive for safety.

The navy gunners and 80 merchant seamen were at battle stations just three minutes after the lookout, Carman J. Nappa of Union, N. J., broke the early morning calm with the shout:

"Tin fish on the port side."

Nappa was almost thrown out of the crow's nest by the violence with which Quartermaster Richard C. Durant, Washington, Ill., put the helm over. The torpedo missed by about five feet. Four more came in quick succession, but all missed.

Capt. Phillip W. Shinn of Long Beach, Calif., kept the ship zigzagging. The submarine surfaced and let fly two shells. Both went over. The tanker's first shell was short. The second bracketed the sub and the Japs hastily submerged.

Smoke from the sub's exhaust was sighted half an hour later five miles away, but the enemy kept moving on a course outside the tanker's range. One shot from the merchantman, at extreme range, fell 25 yards short but the two replying shells from the sub were 200 yards short.

For 12 hours the game went on, with the submarine taking advantage of its greater speed to keep out of range. The tanker fired more than 30 shells.

Nazis 'Scared to Death' Of Our Tanks, Yank Says

WASHINGTON.—An army observer just returned from the European battle zones reported that American tanks can outfight their Nazi counterparts and that the Germans have been forced into "unsound" employment of armor.

Maj. Joseph M. Kirchheimer, army ground forces observer with the Fourth and Sixth armored divisions in France, told news conference that the Nazi tanks "have bigger guns, but they don't know how to handle the tank or shoot as well" as American tankmen.

While the front of the German Mark VI Tiger tanks has armor as thick as eight inches, their side and rear tracks are vulnerable and they are cumbersome (over 50 tons), he said.

The Fourth armored division, he reported, destroyed 400 enemy tanks up to September 27, captured 1,500 prisoners, killed 5,000 and knocked out 1,500 miscellaneous vehicles and 140 large artillery pieces.

The Germans, Kirchheimer asserted, were "really scared to death of our tanks." A group of prisoners to whom he was talking "stood with their mouths open" when they saw a column of armor and artillery roll down the road," the major added.

Reveal Attacks on U. S. Drivers at Marseille

PARIS.—The great Mediterranean port of Marseille is providing a headache to French and Allied authorities attempting to maintain order along military supply lines, conversations with responsible army and navy officials disclosed.

American soldiers and truck drivers have been shot at under various circumstances. Their trucks or ducks have been robbed of gasoline or rations—both extremely valuable in a region where the food supply is most stringent and transport is difficult to obtain.

American authorities countered by running ducks in convoy at night and placing armed guards on each, while French officials ordered all persons except members of the regular army or regularly organized FFI units to turn in their arms. A civil affairs driver was fatally shot near Toulon. A tally of shootings as recounted by army and navy officers showed a score of nearly 30 cases, including near misses.

Sweden Quits Sending Ball Bearings to Nazis

STOCKHOLM, SWEDEN. — The Swedish foreign office announced officially recently that all export of Swedish ball bearings to Germany had ceased. In the west of Ireland, Christmas takes a pious note. A candle is left burning in the window as a guide to the Holy Family, should it be needing shelter. And food is left on the table between meals in case any souls from purgatory should revisit their old homes.

Christmas carols were in dance measure at first. The word carol comes from "corolla," a ring, because the song was for a ring dance.

Apples play a great role in Christmas customs. In parts of England they are pared and the peeling, taken off in one spiral, is thrown over the left shoulder. Tradition has it that the peeling will form the initial of the person whom the parer is destined to marry.

CRISIS BATTLE NEAR IN PHILIPPINE WAR

A crisis battle which may well determine the course of the fight in the Philippines was shaping up on the Island of Leyte as some 60 thousand picked Japanese troops were concentrated against the forces of General Douglas MacArthur.

The Americans had temporarily upset Jap counter attack planes by heavy artillery action.

All was going well on the west wall of Germany where the 3rd Army under General Patton was encircling the fortress of Metz.

British bombers Monday bombed and sank the last German battleship, the Tirpitz. The ship, a 45 thousand ton giant of the fugitive German navy was hit by three bombs and exploded and rolled over in Norwegian waters and sank.

SECOND BIRTHDAY CELEBATION

Little Marilyn Hughes celebrated her second birthday last week at the home of her mother, Mrs. Stanley Hughes. The following children enjoyed the happy occasion: Patty Matula, Sharon Vick, Katherine Mikula, Jimmy Newton and Bo-Bo Price. Mrs. Hughes was assisted by Mrs. Buck Price and Mrs. Frank Newton.

The children were entertained by an interesting miniature red barn with miniature animals and chickens which centered the table.

Refreshments of ice cream, cake and grape juice were served. Jimmie Price and Dwight Hughes were present for refreshments. Many gifts were received by the little honoree.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE OK PRISON LABOR

The Chamber of Commerce today issued the following statement regarding employment of German prisoners in local turkey dressing plants:

"The Cameron Chamber of Commerce with U. S. Employment Service has made careful check of the labor situation in the local turkey dressing plants. It has been determined that it would be impossible to get the turkeys that are being marketed in Cameron picked and to the markets, without the use War Prisoner labor.

"The dressing plants will employ every person that applies at these plants for work, and they will be given as much work as they desire. If a sufficient number of civilian workers will apply at these plants to dress the turkey crop before Thanksgiving, then no prison labor will be used. On Wednesday night, these plants had to import forty turkey pickers from Calvert. More than three hundred cards were sent out to prospective workers in this area, and only ten were returned to the plants stating that they would be available for work at the dressing plants. Seven of these cards were returned from Calvert and three from Cameron.

"Practically all of the turkeys now being dressed go to the Armed Forces and these must be delivered before November 20th. Last year the Fairmount Company shipped more than 275,000 pounds of turkeys. There is a big job to be done and every possible picker will be given a job."

Clifford McCrummens S2|C, of San Diego, Calif., is visiting his mother, Mrs. Mable McCrummens of Buckholts.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Soul and Body" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, November 19.

The Golden Text is: "My soul longeth, yea, even fainteth for the courts of the Lord: my heart and my flesh crieth out for the living God." (Psalms 84:2.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit." (John 3:6.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Helth with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The five material senses testify to truth and error as united in a mind both good and evil. Their false evidence will finally yield to Truth,—to the recognition of Spirit and the spiritual creation."

In England, Boxing day—usually December 26—formerly was the day when the old squires distributed Christmas boxes to the help on their estate. It has since become a sort of legalized blackmail—an excuse for delivery boys, the postman and others who have served you during the year to call and collect a tip.

11 Yanks Rescue 81 Kids Trapped In No-Man's Land

'Baby Patrol' Volunteers Are Cited for Heroism in a Dangerous Mission.

WITH THE U. S. 35TH INFANTRY DIVISION IN FRANCE.—"I'll go. I have three kids at home myself," the sergeant said. Nine others stepped forward as volunteers.

Theirs was a dangerous and an unusual mission. They were going on a "baby patrol" to rescue 81 French children trapped in a chateau in no-man's land.

A civil affairs officer, Capt. George L. Schneider, former Brooklyn, N. Y., lawyer, had received word from the French that in a chateau near the town of Hans there were 81 children, aged two to six, who had been sent there by their parents from Nancy as a place of safety. But the path of war headed right for the children.

Kids in Line of Attack.

The Americans had to capture Hans in order to keep their position in a near-by town. Schneider notified the commanding American officer of the children's situation, and the colonel promised to do his best to avoid the chateau in the attack.

Schneider went to Company A of the 134th regiment and asked for volunteers to enter the town behind the American patrols. They were to reach the chateau and escort the children to safety. That was when the 10 men stepped forward.

It was a damp, cold night when the "baby patrol" reached the battle area about 9 p. m. Each man understood he would have to carry two babies and guide the others.

The patrol reached the chateau without being fired on. Each man placed a baby under each arm and grouped others who could toddle around him and started back. They moved about 40 yards apart and had to stop for rest frequently so that the children could keep up with them.

Nazis Open Fire.

The Germans spotted the party and cut loose with artillery and mortars.

Each man, with his arms full of children, could do nothing but squat for a moment and then move slowly on.

It was a long thousand yards back to their lines. The men had to hand the children over a small creek one by one before reaching the truck that rushed them to Nancy.

Despite the wet, cold ground and their lack of shoes, to say nothing of their fright at being with strange men and at the bursting artillery shells, not one of the children so much as cried.

Not one child or volunteer was hurt.

Recently the captain and 10 enlisted men were awarded the bronze star—but only five were on hand to receive it. The enlisted men included Sgt. William F. Moore, Farwell, Mich.

Baby Girl Saves Mother From Serving in Jail

OMAHA. — A soldier, wearing sergeant's stripes and holding a baby, walked up to the judge's bench in Omaha police court during a recess.

"Say," he said, "this baby isn't mine. I was just holding her while her mother's case was up. The judge sent her mother to jail. What am I going to do with her?"

The prosecutor shrugged his shoulders. Others about the bench were equally puzzled. The baby started to cry.

"Well, somebody's got to take her," the soldier said. "I just sat down over there and the mother asked me to hold her."

The police matron finally took the pink, chubby cheeked year-old-girl, who gurgled happily.

"Boy, you've got her now; she's yours," the soldier said and strode from the courtroom.

The judge solved the problem by calling the 28-year-old attractive mother back to the bench and suspending her five day sentence on a charge of stealing $33 from a neighbor's house.

Victim of Flood Gives Birth to Baby on Roof

MEXICO CITY.—Flood workers related that a woman gave birth to a child while marooned with her husband, their dog and their turkey gobbler atop the roof of their farm home 25 miles from Vera Cruz.

The workers, who did not give the couple's name, said that when rescuers reached the roof the dog leaped with joy, the gobbler flapped its wings, and the woman said, "Be careful. There is a coral snake up here with us, also a flood victim."

All left by canoe except the snake.

Youngster, 9, Has Time Shopping With $52 Wad

KANSAS CITY, MO.—A young girl on a shopping spree is nothing new—unless the enthusiastic shopper is only 9 years old and is shopping with $52 which she found on a table in an apartment near the child care center where she was supposed to be staying. Such was the case here recently. The lass spent $12.65 for articles for herself, purchased a doll and some clothes for a little boy she knew and had only $17.71 when found.

THANK YOU!

We would be very ungrateful if we did not in a small way say, "Thank You" for the help you gave us in helping to make this past November 11th a success. Whether it was contributing food, time, service or flowers we are grateful.
